administration

Donald W. Munson, Principal

"From the days when they were eager young tenth graders, through the days of hard work, surprise, deep satisfactions, and disappointments, the members of the Class of 1967 have distinguished themselves as a group. Their class spirit, enthusiasm, and individual accomplishments have endeared them to the faculty and administration. As they leave the Amherst family we wish them good health, lasting friendships, and the thrill of a career they can enjoy."

—Donald Munson

BOARD OF EDUCATION—Row 1: John E. Ward, Mrs. Virgil W. Cooprider, Theodore L. Masterson, President. Row 2: Nathan D. Rosen, Dr. W. Allan Fisher, H. Kenneth Hornburg.

"A wise philosopher said that an educated person is a human being who can deal with reasonable success with all the ordinary situations that are likely to arise in the course of his life. In that sense we hope that during your years at Amherst, we have provided the opportunity to develop the "coping" strength to deal effectively with the uncertainties in this increasingly complex world.

It is our wish that you may learn to meet adversities gracefully, shoulder responsibility gladly, share your talents generously and your blessings gratefully."

—Dr. John Scheller

Glenn M. Ungerer, Assistant Principal

"As you graduate this June I congratulate you on your achievement and hope that we of the faculty have aided you toward your tentative goal in life. I hope that we have helped you realize that learning will not end with our Commencement exercises, but that in this modern age, we will have to continue our education, whether formally or otherwise, because many types of work not known today will be opportunities in another ten or twenty years. I trust that your high school experiences have opened up paths of interest to be further explored. As alumni of Amherst Central High School, may you always be proud of its accomplishments."

—Glenn M. Ungerer

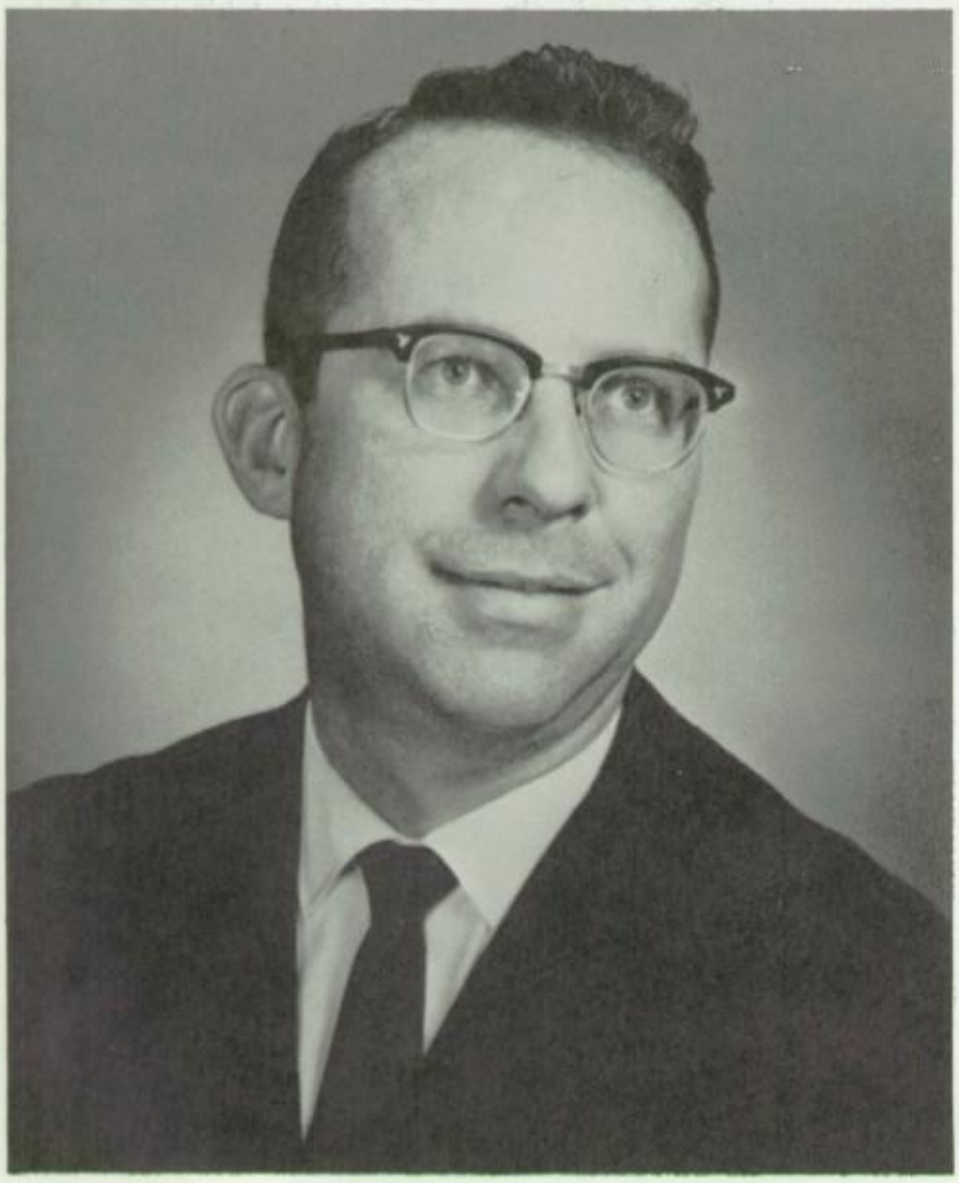
in memoriam

Mr. John Doohan



John Doohan

Although Mr. Doohan was with Amherst for only a short time, his loss was sadly felt by both faculty and students.

Mr. Doohan was a graduate of the University of Montana, where he obtained his Master's degree in 1957. He taught English in Montana for eleven years before coming to Buffalo. He achieved his Master's degree in guidance counseling from SUNYAB and joined the Amherst guidance department last September.

Mr. Doohan's death was a great loss to Amherst Central High School.

Alan Schaefer, Attendance Supervisor

service personnel

Mr. Schaefer was the school's congenial general disciplinarian. Attendance and transportation for Senior High students were also responsibilities of Mr. Schaefer.

Mrs. Lenz, our school nurse, supervised the health clinic which maintained annual physical, dental, sight, and hearing examinations. Mrs. Lenz also handled the flow of constant emergencies and sudden illness which seemed to plague Amherst students around test time.

"The Foreign Language Department offers instruction in French, German, Russian, Latin, and Spanish. Language laboratory instruction is used in Language I, and an eight-booth library-laboratory affords Language III and IV students an opportunity to listen to tapes and perfect their pronunciation.

The Foreign Language Library in 323 offers an excellent selection of books, newspapers, and magazines for the student of language."

"The social studies department tries through history and the social sciences to bring to our students a realistic picture of the way the American society operates and how it is related to the rest of the world. Hopefully in the future a new up-to-date lecture hall with adjoining seminar rooms will be provided for team teaching, which has been highly successful in American and World History. To bolster the study of the social sciences, the department offers study in the fields of economics, sociology, and comparative government for seniors."

"Enrollment in science courses has been on the increase through the years, in spite of the fact that all science courses are elective in the senior high school.

The biology classes are participating in the third year of an experimental curriculum which will be in use state-wide by 1968.

Physics and chemistry laboratory continues to be more of open-ended research into nature rather than mere confirming of known facts. Modern instrumentation is gradually being added to the laboratories.

The science department goals are to stimulate interest in doing scientific work, prepare our students well in course work, and to provide every stimulation possible for pursuit of individual investigation."

"Mathematics is called the Queen of the Sciences—and justifiably so. The extent of its applications is inestimable. The mathematics department at Amherst attempts to point out the significance of mathematics—both as a science in its own right and as a tool for the other sciences. Our revisions in curricula reflect our desire to stay with the modern approach to mathematics. We offer a variety of course work to seniors because we feel that students with the desire and ability should acquire as much flexibility and know-how during their high school years.

This year we took part in two mathematics contests—one sponsored jointly by the Mathematical Association of America and the Society of Actuaries and the other sponsored by the mathematics club of the State University College at Buffalo. Our students were a credit to themselves as well as to their school.

The students at Amherst do and should continue to take advantage of the excellent course work and the fine efforts of the staff in the mathematics department."

"The English Department is faced with the necessity of bringing English education into line with changes which the culture of the 70's will impose on educational systems. Among these are an examination of content in the light of changing communication patterns, recognition of the need for student self-determination in designing significant aspects of his own educational experience, and radical adjustments of attitudes toward language analysis in terms of linguistic knowledge. For Amherst, this means a search for better techniques in processing information, experimentation with heterogeneous groups, modification of the present 10th grade program and the development of a seminar-type 12th grade English course."

Typing to music was one method used to speed up reluctant fingers, but the typewriter keys seemed to change location in spite of their supposedly fixed position.

Besides Personal Typing, the department offered a variety of business oriented courses. Among these were: Business Math, Business Law, Retailing, Office Practice and Experience, and Store Management.

This year a course in Stenoscript was added to the curriculum to provide for greater notetaking ability.

music

In Music Appreciation, students were introduced to the terminology, form, content, style, and history of music. Also taught was music theory. Future Beethovens learned the techniques of composing such as harmonic progression and chords.

Instrumental instruction was also offered by the department. Mr. Blickensderfer led the school orchestra which provided the accompaniment for "Carousel." The school band, led by Mr. Krestic, added pep to school functions.

adult education

Amherst Senior High School is more than a secondary school for young adults striving for graduation. As the mounting pressure of competition and the need to keep abreast of the times becomes apparent, thousands of adults of all ages return to school each week to pursue courses which they find meaningful. These night courses help to enrich their lives as parents, as workers, as citizens, and as individuals.

physical education

A change in the physical education program came about with the formation of a special program for seniors. The seniors were able to choose their own program of activities during the winter sports season.

The highlight of the year was the annual physical fitness test. The test revealed to students how many hidden "muscles" could ache.

Club work in the fields of lifesaving, gymnastics, fencing, and Saturday basketball supplemented the regular gym program.

The Varsity Football team, coached by Mr. Wright, finished the season with 2 wins and 6 losses. Injuries hampered the team for most of the season. When at full strength, senior quarterback Rick Schneegold was able to complete passes to Mike Driscoll and Jerry Peters. Paul Manno and Tom Taylor provided a strong running game, and an excellent defense was led by Jon Speich.

Amherst booters finished first in Division I. Led by Craig Allwes and Ed Fava the team overcame a slow start and won 9 games in a row. Their winning streak was halted by Kenmore West in the Section VI semi-finals.

The Cross Country team placed third in Division I with a 10-2 record. Steve Bassel, Ted Batt, and Glen Munson led the team to victory over all teams except Maryvale and Lancaster.

This year's Volleyball team placed fourth in Division I with 3 wins and 4 losses. Captain Gary Beebe, Howard Goldman, and Steve Becker helped the team to a strong finish.

Coach Hinkley's golf team tied with Frontier for first place in Division I. Two outstanding golfers were Captain Nick Amigone, and the team's highest scorer, Jim Gallery.

winter sports

The Amherst Mermen, coached by Mr. Hinckley, finished the season with 19 wins and 0 losses to win the E.C.I.C. Division I championship for the second straight year. Kevin Boles set an E.C.I.C. record in the 100 yard butterfly with a time of 57:6. A time of 1:08.4 gave Henry Marquardt a pool record in the 100 yard breaststroke.

New to Amherst this year was the Hockey team. Their first year saw the team capture first place. Bill Cook paced the team all year along with leading scorers Mark Engasser and Stu Eddy.

Mr. Hettler's basketball team finished a slow season with a record of 5 wins and 13 losses. The big upset of the year came when Gary Beebe sank the winning freethrow to beat first place West Seneca in the final seconds. Also this year, the team won one and lost one game to Williamsville.

The Wrestling team, captained by Paul Manno and Joe Gulia, finished in fourth place in Division I with a record of 5 wins and 9 losses. Herb Woelfel and Ron Lay were the outstanding grapplers.

Finishing with 5 wins and 6 losses, Mr. Freidrich's riflemen came in fourth place in Division I. Glen Murphy was the team's sharpest shooter.

Coached by Mr. Hughes, the Bowling team ended the year with a record of 22½ wins and 19½ losses. The highest average was maintained by Bill McDonald.

girls' sports council

Many activities, new and traditional, were sponsored by Girls' Sports Council this year. Under the leadership of President Judy Cohn, the Council washed gymsuits and socks at a nominal fee. This new project not only added money to the Council treasury but greatly improved locker-room atmosphere as well. Amherst tradition was honored with the car parade and bonfire preceding the Williamsville football game; Sports Council also sponsored a very successful Waterfollies '66.

A relatively new club at Amherst, the International Club highlighted its year with a Christmas party and displayed pictures of foreign lands on the stack's bulletin boards.

Conducting both its annual Pizza Sale and Variety Show, the Amherst Chapter of the A.F.S. met with customary success. The money raised not only went towards the expenses of our two exchange students, Monica Parolli and Geraldo Teixera, but will also help send an Amherst student abroad this summer. Susan Trabka and Nancy Abraham were the candidates chosen. Steve Greenfield's A.F.S. scholarship took him to the Philippines where he spent an exciting and educational summer.

Walking into room 211 seventh period, one would never think that a yearbook was being compiled. Nevertheless, through fun and absentees, another memory-filled-Tower was sent to the press. Meeting deadlines and pleasing editor, Jeff Sandler, were a few of the headaches the staff had to overcome. Tower's new advisor, Miss Brej, though miniature in size, was a tremendous help.

The photographers finally get on the other side of the camera.

Amherst's award winning literary magazine, Triad, again presented an excellent account of the literary and artistic talents of the Junior and Senior High students. Their "Friday, the thirteenth" dance brought the Triad staff good luck in financing this year's edition. Co-editors this year were Nancy Mosher and Reed Ernst, who aided their advisor, Mrs. Meese.

"Isn't it cute?" exclaims Susan Genrich.

Tatler, the school's official newspaper, continued its reporting of all of Amherst's news under the guidance of Mrs. Atkinson and the editorship of Linda Feferman. Its main objectives are to report the social, academic, and sports events at A.C.H.S. The industrious journalists dirtied their hands with printer's ink at three week intervals.

Bob Herod dictates the next editorial to Jane Shister.

Any student who devotes his time and effort to one of Amherst's publications is eligible to become a member of Quill and Scroll, the honor society for student journalists.

Many readers of the Amherst Bee are familiar with the articles which are written by our Tigertown Reporter staff.

The main purpose of the Student Monocle Club is "to provide an opportunity for any student to submit essays, editorials, etc. which will provide an outlet for his opinions."

service groups

One may get a quick view of the Stage Crew during an assembly, but this indispensable group works mostly unseen and unheard behind all Amherst productions.

The Art Crew is always busy working on scenery for the operetta and plays.

Seen in our "silent" library are the members of the Library Service Club, helping the librarians out in any way they can.

The audio-visual materials are often too complicated for our faculty. The Projection Crew always comes to the rescue with their unfailing ability.

Jean Russ, enthusiastic leader of the Art Crew gives her special touch to the operetta scenery.

Through the "American Youth Performs" program, flute soloist Mr. Max M. Waits came to Amherst and performed in a concert. He also gave special instruction to some band members. Another highlight of the year included the exchange visits with Shillington, Pennsylvania High School band.

The Amherst Orchestra climaxed its year by accompanying the operetta, "Carousel."

A newly formed group at Amherst this year was the Amherst String Quartet.

The Dance Band under the direction of Mr. Krestic played a variety of dance music including Latin numbers and some jazz.

vocal groups

Singing its way through another successful and fun-filled year, the Amherst A Capella Choir helped make this year's operetta, "Carousel," a huge success. In November the group presented its annual concert for the student body in an Assembly, followed by an evening recital open to the community. An exchange program with a Toronto school in the spring was also included in the choir's activities this year.

Also contributing to the success of the operetta were the Mixed Chorus and the Girl's Chorus. These two groups participated in the November assembly and the evening performance as well.

"Carousel "

The year of the carnival highlighted the Amherst operetta for 1967. Being a barker for a carousel invests a man with a magnetic glamour. If the man is like Billy Bigelow (Richard Holloway), it is quite likely that the sweetest young girl will fall in love with him—as Julie Jordon (Linda Pilon) does. At this time, her best friend, Carrie Pepperidge (Ruth Pearson), falls for Enoch Snow (Jonathan Poag).

Against the consent of the town, Julie and Billy are married. To spite Billy, Mrs. Mullen (Virginia White), the carousel owner who is jealously in love with Billy, terminates his employment. His desperation is heightened by the news that Julie is to have a baby. He is persuaded to commit murder and robbery by Jigger Craigin (Steve Dawson), a mean, shiftless sailor. The plan is thwarted and Billy kills himself to avoid being captured. At heaven's back door, Billy learns that he will not be allowed past the gates unless he performs a good deed back on earth. Hesitant and awkward, he fails, but manages to impart a feeling of courage to his daughter. To Julie, Billy confirms the certainty that he loved her deeply.

One doesn't have to be able to sing to be in an Amherst operetta.

. . . and Dick Sagara attempts to do it in a slightly different manner.

the class of 1967

Our high school days have ended, but we are the class that can say we have left a part of ourselves at Amherst. In the years that we were here, our class officers initiated many new programs that started new trends, giving students more responsibility and more freedom.

We will never forget the first days we came to the Senior High. All the upperclassmen crowded into the stacks. They all looked so big, and so self-assured. Under the direction of our class president, Michael Falk, we proved we were as good as the upperclassmen by winning the magazine drive.

As juniors we were the ones that felt self-assured. President Steve Greenfield thought of new ideas to expand our treasury. Many juniors became well-known that year. Sue Munday played Mollie in Take Her She's Mine, and Steve Dawson was a lead in Brigadoon. Judy Rosenfeld was queen of our junior prom entitled "Harbor Lights."

Again in our senior year, new ideas were presented to make us a better class. Steve Greenfield, our president for the second time, came up with the new idea of having class field trips. More senior privileges began, such as the auditing of classes and all-senior study halls.

Geraldo Teixiera and Monica Porolli from South America joined our class as seniors. Mr. Saltarelli's "Saltines" were still famous. Brian Ford, Student Council President, livened up our assemblies with his undying humor. Peter Hall and Sharon Hess starred in our presentation of Moliére's Imaginary Invalid. Carousel, the operetta, was made famous by Dick Holloway and Linda Pilon.

There are many things at Amherst that we will all remember, no matter how many years we have been away. We won't forget the movie that made many of us film stars, with Charlie Senior and his magazines. We will remember cheering at basketball games and going to dances at the church. We will remember reading the off-campus magazine, Dissenter. We will remember lunches on the lawn, and the new senior privilege of leaving school early on Mondays. We will remember cramming for exams and worrying about college. Now that is all past, and we are looking forward to the future.

It was the second time that the class of '68 had watched the changing of the seasons, the second time they had experienced many of the things that will combine to form their memories of Amherst. It was also the second time that the Juniors won the annual magazine drive. Immediately afterwards, they went on to top last year's record by placing first in the United Fund Drive and by triumphing in the Junior-Sophomore Quiz Bowl Assembly.

Not everything, however, was repetition for the Junior class. The year brought new and greater responsibilities, such as PSAT's and college discussions, which are all designed to help shape the future. As the year drew to a close, the Juniors looked forward to their Senior year with more understanding than they had a year before.

As new arrivals to the school, the sophomores, under the able leadership of Mr. Friedrich, gained experience from their participation in Amherst's academic and extracurricular life. Efforts put forth in the Magazine and United Fund Drives did not bring victory, but enthusiasm added to the whole school effort. They demonstrated school spirit by participating in the auditorium pep assemblies and in the Magazine Drive skit, a take-off from The Music Man.

This year the Sophomores planned the annual class party in hopes of getting the much needed funds for their Junior and Senior years. They look forward to the next two years at Amherst with anticipation and hope for the future.

"The struggle of today is not altogether for today . . .
it is for a vast future also."

—Abraham Lincoln
